

Tax – Corporate Tax Lawyer - Toronto

Miller Thomson prides itself on the quality of service provided to clients and our ability to attract and retain top legal talent. We deliver dynamic solutions and are uniquely pan-Canadian, offering legal services in more business centers in the country than any other national firm.

Our Tax Group is seeking an energetic, team-oriented, and entrepreneurial Lawyer to join the team in our Toronto office.

Miller Thomson's Corporate Tax Group provides legal advice, representation and cost-effective solutions to clients on a wide array of tax topics. Our lawyers come from a diverse background of education and experience, representing clients in many industry sectors, such as: manufacturing and processing, automotive, real estate, construction, banking and finance, computer equipment and software, oil and gas, the resource service sector, professional services, among others. We are also positioned at the forefront of rapidly growing technological areas, such as cleantech and greentech. Our lawyers are considered thought leaders on tax matters and are frequent speakers at the Canadian Tax Foundation, Canadian Bar Association and Society of Trust and Estate Practitioners conferences as well as author several tax related publications.

Our Corporate Tax expertise encompasses structuring and implementation of mergers and acquisitions (M&A) transactions and financing, reorganizations of public and private companies, investment funds, real estate investment trusts (REITs), income trusts and other entities, transfer pricing, international tax, cross-border taxation, executive compensation issues including stock option and benefit plans. We also regularly advise clients with respect to tax risks and tax filings. Our lawyers have been involved in a broad spectrum of transactions and planning activities.

The successful candidate will have:

- 5-10 years of experience
- A license to practice in Ontario
- Proven client management skills
- Strong analytical, communication and drafting skills
- An entrepreneurial attitude

Interested candidates with a desire to work with a national team, participate in complex files and develop their own practice should apply in confidence with a cover letter and resume through our website at www.millerthomson.com/en/careers/lawyers

While we thank all applicants for their interest, due to the volume of applications we receive, only those selected for an interview will be contacted.

Miller Thomson will provide accommodations on request throughout the recruitment, selection, and assessment process for applicants with disabilities. If you require accommodations, please inform our Talent Management department of the nature of accommodations that you may require, to ensure your equal participation.
